

THE FLY WORKS WEEKENDS.

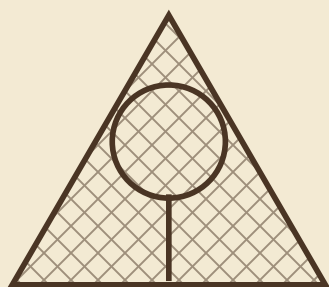

SO DOES A GOOD TRAP.

THE BOTTLE TRAP.

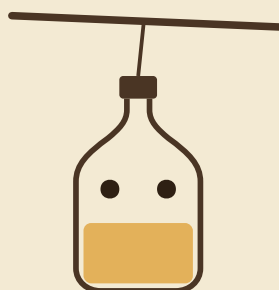

One soft drink bottle. Three holes the size of a ten cent piece, ten centimetres from the top. A cup of fruit juice with the pulp, a tablespoon of cloudy ammonia. Hang it a metre and a half up, in shaded foliage, and change the mix weekly.

NET

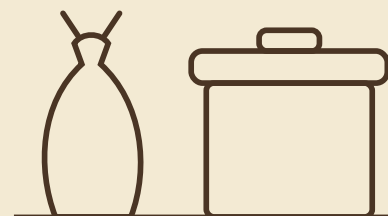

Drape fine mesh after fruit set. Keep it off the fruit itself, she stings straight through anything touching the skin.

TRAP

Head height, shady spot, refreshed on schedule. Traps tell you she has arrived. They will not win on their own.

BIN

Fallen fruit gets bagged and frozen for two days, or boiled, then binned. Never the compost, never the green bin.

Netting is the only method that keeps her off the fruit altogether. Everything else is support.

NOT THIS SEASON.

SEE IT DONE AT THE SEYMOUR SHOW

Kings Park, 2 and 3 October.
